To provide richer cultural nourishment for China-Africa cooperation

In Kinshasa, capital of the Democratic Republic of Congo, a large building in the shape of an African drum is about to be completed. This is the Central African Cultural and Arts Center, designed and constructed by Chinese architects. It incorporates cultural and artistic concepts from both China and Africa, symbolizing solidarity, harmony, and the friendly relations between China and Africa across generations. As one of the key projects under the eight major initiatives proposed at the 2018 Beijing Summit of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation (FOCAC), this facility, once completed, will mark another splendid achievement of the cultural cooperation between China and Africa. Both China and Africa are birthplaces of human civilization, renowned for their rich and diverse cultural heritage. They are proud of their splendid civilizations, and are both ready to make greater contributions to promoting cultural diversity in the world. Alwihda Info.

Officials commend China's support for public health in Africa

The robust China-Africa partnership has made significant strides in improving public health outcomes in Africa, according to a senior Africa Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (Africa CDC) official. "Over the years, China has consistently demonstrated its commitment to Africa's health security, most notably through the construction of the Africa CDC headquarters, which stands as a testament to the strength of Africa-China relations,” Joseph Wangendo, senior technical officer at Africa CDC, said during a China-Africa development cooperation-themed high-level dialogue on Thursday. Wangendo said the collaboration between Africa CDC and China has been instrumental in advancing practical outcomes in building resilient health systems, enhancing disease surveillance, and strengthening emergency response mechanisms.
