China, Nigeria Collaborate on Cultural Initiatives to Promote Peace

Nigeria and China have emphasised that cultural initiatives would remain one of the most potent tools for promoting peace. The correlation between cultural initiatives and peace was made during the fifth National Entertainment and Peace Summit, themed: 'Cultivating A Culture of Peace,' organised by the Drum Majors for Peace in partnership with the China Cultural Centre in Nigeria to commemorate World Peace Day 2024 in Abuja. The cultural counsellor of the Chinese Embassy in Nigeria, Mr. Yang Jianxing, said there was a close relationship between entertainment and peace. According to him, entertainment alleviates negative emotions and provides relaxation, promoting a sense of unity among different people despite their diverse backgrounds. He further explained that despite being from different countries, people are fundamentally the same and share common human emotions and experiences which can create conflict or foster peace. Egypt's potential purchase of Chinese J-10C fighter jets signals shift from US arms

Egypt has reportedly purchased Chinese J-10C fighter jets, a move analysts say signals Beijing's growing influence in the Middle East and regional powers looking to diversify their military procurement, reducing their reliance on the United States. According to Bulgarian defence news agency Bulgarian Military, Egypt placed its first order for China's J-10C "Vigorous Dragon" fighter jets on August 19. This move makes Egypt the second country, after Pakistan, to purchase the J-10C, which is described as a versatile 4.5-generation multirole fighter offering advanced combat capabilities at a competitive cost. The J-10C is also said to be quipped for air-to-air and air-to-ground missions, excelling in air superiority, and has been compared to the American F-16. An earlier report by Military Watch Magazine stated that Egypt's decision to acquire the J-10C is part of its broader effort to modernise its air force, particularly as it phases out older F-16 aircraft.
