

Wang Yi: China willing to build all-weather China-Africa community with shared future in new era

China is willing to work with Africa to ensure the Global Security Initiative takes root on the continent and to jointly build a peaceful and secure path to modernization, Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi said on Thursday. China is ready to join hands with Africa to build an all-weather China-Africa community with a shared future in the new era, he added. Wang, who is also a member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China Central Committee, made the remarks during a joint press conference with his Nigerian counterpart, Yusuf Tuggar. CGTN.

China to help Africa build rapid response force to tackle insecurity, says foreign minister

China on Thursday reaffirmed its commitment to help Africa build a rapid response force to tackle insecurity on the continent. The pledge was made by Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi during a joint news conference with his Nigerian counterpart Yusuf Tuggar. He emphasized that China was ready to work with Africa to deliver on the global security initiative and build a China-Africa community with a shared future. “We will work to advance the partnership action for common security and provide 1 billion yuan ($135 million) of grants in military assistance to Africa and help train 6,000 military personnel and 1,000 police and law enforcement personnel for African countries,” Wang said, recalling the pledges made during the China-Africa summit held last September in Beijing. Anadolu Ajansi.

Chinese Foreign Minister Pledges Military Aid for Africa

Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi on Thursday pledged Beijing’s full support and military aid for the world’s poorest continent as he wrapped up his Africa tour in Nigeria. Wang began an Africa tour on January 6, visiting Namibia, the Republic of Congo and Chad before winding up his tour in Nigeria, where he held talks with Nigerian President Bola Ahmed Tinubu and Foreign Minister Yusuf Tuggar in the capital Abuja. China Global South Project.

From infrastructure to training professions, China-Africa ties under the BRI mark a new era of green cooperation

In a press briefing after meeting with Denis Sassou Nguesso, president of the Republic of the Congo on Tuesday, China’s Foreign Minister Wang Yi said China will work with African countries to build the “Africa Solar Belt” program and help Africa truly embark on the path of green and low-carbon development. Wang, also a member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China Central Committee, made the remarks during his ongoing visit to Africa. Global Times.

China FM ends Africa tour in Nigeria, pledging military aid

Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi concluded his tour of Africa in Nigeria on Thursday, saying that Beijing would continue to offer support and military aid for the continent. Following visits to Namibia, the Republic of Congo and Chad, Wang held talks with Nigerian President Bola Ahmed Tinubu and Foreign Minister Yusuf Tuggar. He pledged one billion yuan (€132 million, $136 million) in military aid to Africa, saying that China would also help to train 6,000 troops and 1,000 police officers across the continent, as they continue to battle against the militant Islamist movement Boko Haram. "China will firmly support Africans in addressing African issues in the African way, African people are the real masters of this continent," Wang said, following talks with Tinubu. Deutsche Welle.

Green development - key focus of China-Africa cooperation: spokesperson

Guo made the remarks at a regular press briefing when commenting on African media reports that the consolidation of China-Africa relations and the commitment to sharing the gains of modernization have provided a strong foundation for green transition in Africa. Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi, who is visiting Africa, pointed out that China supports Africa's green development and is committed to working with Africa to advance eco-friendly modernization, according to Guo. By drawing experience from China's Three-North Shelterbelt Forest Program, African countries have launched the Great Green Wall initiative to hold back the Sahara desert, Guo said. News AZ.

Nigerian president pledges to further advance cooperation with China

Nigerian President Bola Ahmed Tinubu met with Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi Thursday in Abuja, the capital of the West African nation, to strengthen the China-Nigeria comprehensive strategic partnership. Wang, also a member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China (CPC) Central Committee, conveyed the warm greetings and New Year wishes of Chinese President Xi Jinping to Tinubu. Wang recalled Tinubu's successful state visit to China in September last year, during which the two presidents jointly announced the establishment of the China-Nigeria comprehensive strategic partnership, marking significant progress in bilateral relations. Global Times.

Films celebrate China-Ethiopia ties

The first China-Ethiopia Film and TV Festival was held recently in Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, with the aim of promoting cultural exchange among the BRICS member states through collaboration in the film industry. The groundbreaking event marked the establishment of a new partnership between China and Ethiopia in the creative industry with a special focus on the exchange of films, strengthening cross-cultural exchange, and sharing knowledge, technology, and experience. Speaking at the event, Chinese Ambassador to Ethiopia Chen Hai said as ancient civilizations, both China and Ethiopia have long histories, rich cultures, and diverse ethnic customs, as well as beautiful landscapes, that can potentially be used in the production of films, dramas, and TV shows. China Daily.

Egypt welcomes Indonesia's entry to BRICS

Egypt welcomed on Thursday Indonesia's entry into the BRICS group as a full member, according to the Egyptian Foreign Ministry statement. "Egypt looks forward to Indonesian participation in all activities of the bloc to enrich and enhance cooperation in various fields of mutual interest and to achieve development for their peoples," the statement said. The ministry highlighted that "Indonesia's entry to BRICS constitutes an additional bridge for cooperation between the two countries that enjoy historic and distinguished relations at all levels." On Monday, Brazil, which holds the group's rotating presidency in 2025, announced the official entry of Indonesia as a full member into BRICS. China Daily.

Morocco-China relations continue to grow

The years-old relationship between Morocco and China is based on friendship, mutual respect and solidarity. A new dimension was added to the ties with the signing of a strategic partnership in May 2016 during the visit of King Mohammed VI to Beijing. Morocco and China share the common characteristics of political stability and good governance thanks to the enlightened leaderships of King Mohammed VI and President Xi Jinping, respectively. There has been constancy and sustainability in the close relations that tie both countries, offering numerous opportunities and a promising horizon to lead the nations toward positive and constructive progress. China Daily.